Members Meeting

ANKARA, 10-11 OCTOBER 2019
EuroFM is the European FM platform that brings educators, researchers and practitioners in the field of Facility Management together. EuroFM as the FM network association has its members now situated in more than 30 different countries from research institutes to universities, end users, service providers and national FM associations. The aim is to bring forward the FM profession and to come to a better mutual understanding by learning and sharing FM knowledge.

By joining a network group, the participant can support the aim of EuroFM bringing forward the FM profession by sharing best practices and enhances the advancement of knowlegde of FM in Europe.

The network groups meet at least twice a year during the members meetings. This year, we have held our previous meeting in March in Zurich, and now, in October, Ankara will be our host city.
TRFMA is a voluntary association (NGO) of leading professional Facility Management companies of Turkey.

In recent years, facility management (FM) have gained more importance both in the world and in Turkey. Facility Management is a rapidly growing business sector and which is one of the most employment intensive sector of Turkey.

In order to support and develop the Facility Management sector, 15 leading facility management companies founded Turkish Facility Management Association (TRFMA) on 21.12.2017. TRFMA’s aim is to provide solutions to the problems related with the facility management processes and services in order to optimize the operating costs and to improve the quality of management services.

It was decided to organize an international conference and discuss the main problems of the sector and solutions on 10-11 October 2019 by the Facility Management Association (TRFMA) with the gathering of the leading national and international corporate firms from the facility and resource management sector and Ankara University Real Estate Development and Management Department.

In Turkey, specific real estate investments such as mass housing, sites, offices/luxurious residences and lofts, airports, marinas, industrial zones, stadiums and sport clubs are increasing rapidly as capital investments of both citizens and foreigners are booming in this field. It is monitored that there are significant deficiencies in professionalization and organizing in the fields of project and construction management, facility-real estate-asset management and there is an inadequacy of professional development and institutionalization due to various reasons as well as a negative effect of management problems on return and value of investments despite the increase of capital investments on the real estate sector.

Besides examination of problems of the sector at the International Conference on Facility Management to be held in Ankara with attendance of facility management specialists at the national and international levels within this framework, emerging methods in facility management are going to be discussed in terms of professional standards, technological change and transformation applications and theoretical and application skills of best practices of facility management in various fields and development of University-Public-Private relations are going to be enabled. Special attention will be paid to the opening of booths by willing firms active in the facility management sector in the conference area and the current practices to be shared with the participants.
